ENERGY PROGRAM

The Home Energy Rating System (HERS) Index is the industry standard by which a home's energy efficiency is measured. Each Hardison Building home is tested with an average efficiency of more than 30% than most homes. Why is this important to you? Because it allows you to save more on utility bills and improve the comfort of your home.

TESTIMONIALS

- BRADLEY F.

While no house is ever perfect, Hardison builders built us a quality home. We have been very pleased with the result. Their customer service has also been stellar, any concerns we have had. The building supervisors are wonderful men as well, and made sure the work was completed in a timely manner and with professionalism. My home will outlast me. They did not cut corners as I have seen other builders do. They had pride in their work. I highly recommend them!
